

TABLE OF CONTENTS

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS . . . . .	VII
INTRODUCTION . . . . .	IX
H. INGLEBERT
Intercultural Exchanges in Greek and Latin Histories and Chronicles	1
S. ROBBE – C. NOCE
Translating Eusebius’ “Church History” in the West and in the East: Rufinus and his Contemporary Syriac Colleague . . . . .	29
A. CAMPLANI
Transmitting and Being Transmitted. The Spread and Reception of the History of the Episcopate of Alexandria in Carthage and Aksum . . . . .	65
S. RAPP
Caucasian Historical Literature, the Iranian Epic, and the Diversity of Late Antiquity . . . . .	95
A. HILKENS
“A Wise Indian Astronomer Called Gandoubarios”: Malalas and the Legend of Yoniṭon . . . . .	119
M. CONTERNO
Found in Translation: Agapius, the Septuagint, and the “Falsified” Torah of the Jews . . . . .	143